

I, for one, am proud to be on the Do Not Call List. I feel that the constant telephone calls from unsolicited vendors is an intrusion. When my parents were dying, we were constantly inundated with unwanted calls. There are times when one cannot deal with the commercialism that has taken over the United States